The commissioners of Green Mount cemetery in Montpelier in their annual report explain why marble instead of granite was used in the mortuary chapel in that city. They report: "Primarily it was intended to build this structure of granite and the plans and specifications were drawn, but investigation disclosed the fact that a building of granite would so far exceed the amount of money at our disposal that we were forced to substitute marble, and for a building of this character, the substitution has proved fairly satisfactory."

On the occasion of their second annual banquet and dance in Miles' hall, February 22, Iroquois Tribe, No. 16, Improved Order of Red Men, have secured the services of Past Grand Inchooness Andrew H. Paton of Boston, who will speak on the growth and progress of this ancient and ever growing order, which at present (numerically speaking) numbers over a half a million members. Past Grand Inchooness Paton is a Scotchman by birth and has traveled throughout every state in the union. He is at present editor of the Red Men's official journal, is an eloquent speaker, and the members of Iroquois tribe are indeed fortunate in securing such good talent for this occasion. It is also expected that most all the great chiefs of the lately formed grand reservation of Vermont will be in attendance.

Card of Thanks.

We appreciate all the kindly sympathy and help that has been given us during the long illness and since the decease of our dear husband and father, and we hereby express our sincere thanks for each and every one of the many who have thus aided us.

Mrs. George Inglis and family.
